NOTE

Under Internal Revenue Regulations, tax-exempt charitable organizations generally must provide requesters with COPIES of:

- Its approved exemption applications, all required attachments and any related correspondence with the IRS, and
- Its three most recent annual information returns (Form 990), including all schedules and attachments (but not the names and addresses of contributors).

In-person requests: A member of the public may request to inspect the documents at any principal office of the organization. The entity must provide the information requested that same day. However, if the request places an “unreasonable burden” on the organization, the staff must provide copies of the requested information no later than the next business day after the unusual circumstances cease to exist (limited to a maximum of five business days after the request).

Written requests: Written requests made by fax, mail, email, or overnight service, which include the requester’s address, must be honored within 30 days of receipt.

Website alternative: Instead of providing copies, an organization may make the documents available on either its own or another organization's website. If it uses this option, it has to: (1) provide an exact replica of the document as was filed with the IRS; (2) advise requesters how to access the forms on the web; (3) the site should charge no access fee and require no special software or hardware to download. Organizations that post this information on the Internet still must honor in-person requests to view the applicable documents.

Permissible charges: Tax-exempt organizations may charge a reasonable copying fee, up to $1 for the first page and 15 cents for each additional page, plus actual postage costs.

Penalties: An organization that fails to comply with the new disclosure requirements may be subject to the following penalties:

- Annual Information Return – Form 990 - $20 per day for as long as the failure continues, up to a maximum of $10,000 for each failure to provide an annual return.
- Exemption Application - $20 per day with no maximum.
- An organization that willfully fails to comply with these public inspection rules can be subject to an additional $5,000 penalty.

Private foundation exempt: The new disclosure rules don't yet apply to private foundations. They must still make a copy of their annual return available for public inspection at their principal office for a period of 180 days after publishing a notice of availability.

Donor Information: Please note that donor information is not open to public inspection and has been excluded from this copy.

Grants are made based on formalized grant agreements with grantee organizations that clearly outline the responsibilities and obligations of the grantor and grantee. Grants are made to organizations in countries where ILAD has personnel or agents (national authorized representatives), so monitoring is done by ILAD personnel or ILAD agents. ILAD personnel also spend considerable amounts of time in-person with grantees to see and observe first-hand how the funds are used and the programs developed. In addition, ILAD requires grantees to provide both financial and narrative reports on the use of grant funds on at least an annual basis.

Part I, line 3:

Foreign expenditures are accounted for using the accrual basis of accounting, consistent with US Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. ILAD uses expense reports and other appropriate substantiating documentation to track foreign expenditures as they occur.

mobile libraries that serve 450 minority language speakers across two countries. 3 Mother-tongue schools also use the literature provided by these libraries.

Agricultural training: Over 1,300 local farmers have adopted the innovative organic pineapple production methods being taught on ILAD's self-sustaining demonstration farm. Multiple, village-based small-farm co-ops are trained and in operation. The agriculture project has expanded to include teaching pond culture tilapia raising, animal husbandry and crop diversification.

Social business: ILAD is supporting the creation of local businesses to provide fair market prices for agricultural products. These businesses generated over 50 full-time jobs for local people.

Microfinance: ILAD offers financial services such as savings and micro loans through a rural agricultural development program. 517 people are in the savings plan and 55 new loans were given in 2019, resulting in a substantial increase in income for the participants.

Medical initiatives: Working in partnership with local medical teams, ILAD holds mobile medical clinics several times a year in rural villages. Since 2015, approximately 1,400 patients have benefitted from medical services.

Education: ILAD assists students by providing necessary school supplies. In 2019, approximately 1,850 rural schoolchildren were helped.

Clean Water initiatives: In 2018, a new well was drilled for a community of 100 families.

In a different West African location, development of a cashew demonstration farm and processing facility continues to move forward. Though this project is not currently serving the community on a broad scale, the research and project design is providing a sustainable framework for future engagement with the farmers in the area.

In the Middle East, ILAD staff are focused on literacy and life-skills education among an overlooked, underserved minority language group.

Literacy: Literacy classes have been offered in both the country's main language and the minority language. The first women's literacy class was completed in 2018.

Medical Initiatives: 75 people were treated at a mobile clinic.

Education: 12 women attended SHINE program, which teaches strength, value and purpose to women. This is important because in this culture, women are not valued.

Micro-enterprise: With the guidance of the ILAD team, two women involved in the SHINE program created and developed a jewelry making micro-enterprise. This enterprise is gaining customers and providing a small income for the families of the women involved.

Dallas, Texas, is now home to a large refugee population, many of whom speak minority languages with no access to written or audio texts in their primary language. In 2019, ILAD conducted extensive research to determine the most acute felt needs of this specific community and determined what gaps exist in services currently being administered. At the conclusion of the research, ILAD developed an English language literacy and exchange program to help facilitate English language acquisition and cultural assimilation.

Central Asia: In 2019, the beginning foundation has been laid for a Business Development Center which will serve under-resourced language communities.

A partnership was established for the creation of health education videos for non-literate, under-resourced language communities that struggle with communicable diseases and hygiene practices.

ILAD also began in a Human Language Technology pilot program partnership with a public university. ILAD will be making a formal grant to the university to further the necessary research, and ILAD is presently collecting data from four language groups to use in the program with the goal of providing access to information to these language communities through machine translation.

In Asia, North Africa, Southeast Asia and the Arabian Peninsula ILAD staff are in various stages of language and culture research, market

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11b:

Form 990 is prepared by an independent accountant and reviewed in detail by the organization's top management and board of directors prior to filing.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c:

All board directors, principal officers and committee members are required to sign a conflict of interest disclosure form on a periodic basis. The board monitors these forms and any disclosures made; upon disclosure of a conflict the board allows the individual to provide all information related to the conflict of interest in question, and then dismisses the individual as they discuss the facts and make a determination of whether or not a conflict of interest exists. If it is found that a conflict does exist the interested party is excused from all discussions and voting related to it. In addition the board will do due diligence in appointing a individual, with no conflict of interest, to look into and present to the board any reasonable/comparable alternative. All of this is documented and kept on file in the board minutes.
